McMillan Introduces New Stock and Custom Action for 2009

Phoenix (May 16, 2009) – McMillan Group International announces new two products, the Adjustable M3A stock and the McMillan G30 Control Round Feed Action for 2009. Both products are based on existing products sold by McMillan.

According to Kelly McMillan, president, “We are committed to developing products with input received through our ongoing dialog with professional, competitive and enthusiast shooters.” The company spends considerable efforts connecting with shooters at competitive events, in chat rooms, and at industry events. “Our new products are a result of such dialog,” adds McMillan.

McMillan Introduces the Adjustable M3A Stock

The Adjustable M3A stock is a new version of McMillan’s standard M3A with an adjustable integral cheekpiece, which allows both vertical and horizontal adjustment. It is available with either the standard two thumbscrew lock elevator posts or with the thumbwheel elevator mechanism.

McMillan Introduces the McMillan G30 Control Round Feed Action

McMillan introduces a new action, McMillan G30 Control Round Feed Action, in addition to the popular McMillan G30 Push Feed Action. The McMillan G30 Control Round Feed Action, features a 3-position wing safety: fire, safe, and safe with bolt lock. The G30 bolt is designed to close on a round already in the chamber. The action grabs a round from the magazine and holds it firmly in the boltface for positive feeding and extraction. Both actions are foundational to the McMillan rifles.
